

NORWAY - WILDERNESS SKI TOUR

March-April, 7-8 days

Cost: £2000-£2250 (depending on flights & duration)

The ultimate tailor-made Norwegian back-country ski experience. Fly into Oslo from London Heathrow and we'll enjoy an exquisite train journey into the wild Hardangervidda National Park. Our start-point is the historic Finse Hotel (Shackleton/Amundsen's training camp) where you'll be re-calibrated to Nordic skis and where we'll cover some back-country mountain-craft. The exact itinerary will be decided on in advance - but in essence our adventure will be a 3-5 day 'hut to hut' ski tour on Europe's most dramatic mountain plateau - the Hardangervidda.

An example itinerary (3 wilderness huts, 4 day ski)

Fri: Depart London early am for Norway. Transfer to train for a meandering journey into the wilderness.

Arrive at our Hotel. Briefing and a cool beer.

Sat: Ski tuition on the local hills. All meals at the Finse Mountain Hotel. Relax and a little planning.

Sun: Ski skills continued at Finse. Final planning.

Mon: Wilderness back-country ski tour + Hytte 1

Tue: Wilderness back-country ski tour + Hytte 2

Wed: Wilderness back-country ski tour + Hytte 3

Thu: Wilderness back-country ski tour - finish in the small ski-town of Geilo (luxury hotel) Option to tackle the alpine-slopes + chill (jacuzzi & a chill?)

Fri: Depart by train for Oslo and return to UK (or remain in Norway for further resort skiing or a weekend in Oslo)

(Note - the itinerary is deliberately flexible. A longer 'hut to hut' experience is achievable should the group be capable and keen. Final itinerary is shaped at the Finse Hotel)
